

The Kelton Eccentric Faceplate Reviews

"The most important advance in modern woodturning. It would seem that the true potential of this faceplate is only restricted by ones imagination. Worldwide we will see some wonderful shapes made from it."

New Zealand Faceplate, Sept. 1998.

"A very successful accessory. Besides the many possibilities for surface decoration, there are a lot of sculptural possibilities. This faceplate adds greatly to the vocabulary of the turner who wants to try new things."

American Woodturner, March 1999.

"A major advance in innovative turning. Not only does it allow turners to enter a host of new dimensions in design, but it also solves vibration problems in conventional turning."

Australian Woodworker, Sept. 1998.
